Can We Talk: Health Relationships

Diana Wark (She/Her), Parent Program Coordinator for Centre for Sexuality

Join us for an interactive workshop to learn how to navigate those sometimes awkward but essential conversations that foster well-being, healthy relationships and informed decision-making. We empower parents with knowledge, skills and confidence to engage in open, honest and supportive conversations about sexuality and sexual health with their children.

This session we will describe and explore healthy, unhealthy, and abusive relationship patterns. We will learn about effective communication and practice discussing topics related to romantic/intimate relationships in ways that are grounded in your values.
